

James Madison Program
in American Ideals and Institutions

THE PERNICIOUS MYTH OF JUDICIAL SUPREMACY

MICHAEL STOKES PAULSEN

University Chair, Professor of Law, The University of St. Thomas

The Herbert W. Vaughan Lecture on America's Founding Principles

James Madison Program
in American Ideas and Institutions

609-258-5107

<http://princeton.edu/sites/jmadison>

 PRINCETON UNIVERSITY

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 20, 2016

4:30 – 6:00 p.m. McCormick Hall 101

MICHAEL STOKES PAULSEN is Distinguished University Chair and Professor of Law at the University of St. Thomas, where he has taught since 2007. He was previously the McKnight Presidential Professor of Law & Public Policy and Associate Dean at the University of Minnesota Law School, where he taught from 1991-2007. He has served as a federal prosecutor, as Attorney-Advisor in the Office of Legal Counsel of the U.S. Department of Justice, and as counsel for the Center for Law & Religious Freedom. He is the author of more than ninety scholarly articles and book chapters on a wide variety of constitutional law topics. In addition to The Constitution: An Introduction (Basic Books, 2015), co-authored with Luke Paulsen, Professor Paulsen is co-author of the casebook The Constitution of the United States, (with Steve Calabresi, Michael McConnell, and Samuel Bray — Foundation Press, 2d ed. 2013), and editor of Our Constitution: Landmark Interpretations of America's Governing Document (The Federalist Society, 2013). He received his BA degree with distinction from Northwestern University, where he was a member of Phi Beta Kappa. He received a MA in Religion from Yale Divinity School and a JD from Yale Law School, where he was an editor of the Yale Law Journal and a recipient of the Harlan Fiske Stone Prize for appellate advocacy.